Gomez Business Pulse XF is a dashboard for business and IT managers that accelerates actionable understanding of the impact of web performance on online business health.

Today, the web is a critical channel for businesses of all sizes and industries. As the web matures and becomes mainstream, customers expectations are increasing. Little tolerance remains for poorly performing web sites. According to Gartner, Inc. "Online sales are slowing for some organizations as buyers grow increasingly frustrated and dissatisfied with the Web shopping experience".¹ At the same time new technologies and application delivery approaches make managing your customers' web experiences increasingly challenging. Ajax, other rich internet applications, variations in end-user locations, connections speeds, operating systems, and browser types, plus content delivered by 3rd parties all create management complexity. Now, with Business Pulse XF from Gomez, you can ensure your web applications are operating at peak performance and measure their impact on brand, revenue and cost.

Business Pulse XF links business KPIs to underlying web performance. With no hardware installation, back end integration, or extensive tagging, Gomez enables your company to:

- Foster collaboration using a common dashboard across business and IT
- Understand the impact of web experience on business performance
- Protect brand equity and zero in on opportunities to improve online business performance

Business Pulse XF provides insight into the impact of web performance and the user experience on business performance, enabling alignment around all web channel objectives between business and IT teams.
